

The Sound Of Silence by Paul Simon

Hello darkness, my old friend, I've come to talk to you again.

Because vision softly cree - ping, left its seeds while I was slee - ping,

And the vision that was planted in my brain still remains, within the sound of si-lence.

2nd VERSE:

In restless dreams I walked alone, narrow streets of cobblestone,
‘Neath the halo of a street lamp, I turned my collar to the cold and damp,
When my eyes were stabbed by the flash of a neon light that split the night
And touched the sound of silence.

3rd VERSE:

And in the naked light I saw ten thousand people, maybe more,
People talking without speaking, people hearing without listening
People writing songs that voices never share, and no one dare, disturb the sound of silence.

4th VERSE:

"Fools!" said I, "You do not know, silence like a cancer grows."
"Hear my words that I might teach you, take my arms that I might reach you.
But my words like silent raindrops fell, and echoed in the wells of silence.

5th VERSE:

And the people bowed and prayed to the neon god they made,
And the sign flashed out its warning, in the words that it was forming,
Said "The words of the prophets are written on the subway walls, and tenement halls"
And whispered in the sounds of silence.
